Dennis Josef Meseg's "Shattered Souls - in a Sea of Silence" denounces the handling of abuse cases within the Catholic Church

CISION f t l v p

CISION, Geneva, Aug. 4, 2023 - (PRNewswire) - On the occasion of World Youth Day in Cologne from August 16 to 25, 2023, 331 child figures were displayed in front of the imposing Cologne Cathedral. The small figures are shaped in white paper lamin paper, symbolizing the colors of innocence and the pain, with unshattered souls, they point towards Cologne Cathedral, drawing attention to the church's shameful handling of victims and perpetrators of sexual abuse. Through the installation "Shattered Souls in a Sea of Silence," artist Dennis Josef Meseg aims to "give voice, visibility and a voice to the victims."

However, the installation doesn't solely focus on the victims, but also casts a critical light on the perpetrators and accomplices. His intention is that they can no longer continue their wrongdoing under the church's protection.

Not church's protection

The decision to choose Cologne as the location and the timing during the year's World Youth Day in Cologne as the occasion for the installation is deliberate: it aims to underscore the ongoing discussion about dealing with potential abusers in the architecture of Cologne and the Catholic Church's events.

The disturbing reality of abuse and the way it is handled have rightfully sparked discussion in the past. In 2022, over 600,000 members left the German Catholic Church, a sad testimony to the loss of trust in the Catholic Church.
